A sword crafted for sailors, in the coastal Cidarian city of Cidaris based on the ofiri saber, using mainly by Cidarian privateers. It's a solid and simple blade with a sharp curved edge, it features a spiraling ivory grip on the handle, it has a single curve bar from where the crossguard would be to the pommel which serves a bare-bones hand guard though it also has some branching metal rods near the top that extend along the sides, some users of this sword will take metal wire and wind them between these bars to fashion their own unique handguards.
